Eligibility:

Females ages 18 and above who are pregnant and in need of chemical dependency treatment and females with dependent children (to age 8) in need of chemical dependency treatment.

Fees:

Title 19 Reimbursement, insurance and State funds

Description:

Assessment and residential treatment for pregnant and parenting adult females and their children.

Full Circle is a residential program located in Rapid City, SD for 18 and older pregnant and parenting females, and their dependent children, who are struggling with drinking and/or taking drugs and who lack the ability to abstain from drinking or taking drugs. This program provides coordinated substance abuse intervention and treatment, health care, and supportive services to pregnant and/or parenting women.

The goals of Full Circle are for participants to develop a recovery based lifestyle, make a successful transition into independent living arrangements, be quality parents to their children, and avoid long term dependency on the social services system. The program consists of 3 phases. Phase One is medically monitored inpatient chemical dependency treatment and lasts typically 6 weeks. In this phase, the clients learn how drug and alcohol use affects them and their children, new ways of coping with life, or relating to others and self, and they acquire the tools they need to aid them in living a recovery oriented lifestyle. Phase 2 is the Clinically Managed, Low Intensity, Residential Phase of the program and is designed to provide women with a safe, secure, and structured place to stay before and after the baby is born. Case managers help obtain housing and become involved in education, vocational programs, and parenting classes among other services. Residents are encouraged to utilize the group home styled facilities for 3 months post birth. In Phase 3, Full Circle offers case management services upon a client's discharge from Phase 2. Services included in this phase would be continued provision of support groups and counseling, as well as ongoing linking with vocational, childcare, educational, and support services in the community. Case Management Services are offered throughout Western South Dakota. Women can be referred to this facility by Law Enforcement, Social Services, Human Services, Tribal Entities, the private sector such as physicians and attorneys, and others including family members.

Description:

Prevention (speaking engagements, media promotion, classroom presentations, multi-agency coordination and collaboration/coalition activities: community and volunteer training/coalition training, systemic planning, various peer helping programs for general student population and athletes, chemical free events, formal/informal alcohol, tobacco, other drug and violence (ADODV) policy development and enforcement for students, including athletes; problem identification and referral through a two level education and discipline system (eight-hour PRI class and one-on-one counseling); AOD assessments for students; early intervention; direct and indirect client support; support groups for students in recovery or with family members who are chemically dependent; referral to AA and NA.

NSU Counseling Center is proactive in addressing alcohol, tobacco, other drug and violence (ATODV) issues and problems. The ultimate aim is to create a safe campus and an environment that nurtures students' academic and social development, thus enhancing each student's capacity for learning. Staff work collaboratively with various NSU departments including Residence Life and Athletic Department and the Fifth Judicial Court to create a student assistance program for responding to individuals experiencing chemical use problems through strong policy development and enforcement of campus policies and local, state and federal laws. This centralized progressive education/discipline system utilizes PRI's On Campus Talking About Alcohol (OCTAA) eight-hour class on the first violation and more intensive one-on-one counseling for subsequent violations utilizing the research based program for college students – Brief Alcohol Screening and Intervention for College Students (BASICS). Through a six-day training, residence hall staff are provided the knowledge and skills to enforce the ATODV policies with the understanding that these measures contribute to a safe environment which enhances NSU's ability to accomplish its educational mission. Information regarding ATODV policies is disseminated to students, staff, parents, student organization advisors, and athletes on an annual basis. Student leaders (peer helpers) are trained to promote positive, healthy norms and effectively intervene in high-risk situations. Speaking engagements, classroom presentations and media campaigns are conducted to increase knowledge about high-risk behaviors, protective factors, and/or health enhancing behaviors. Social, recreational and public service options are provided for students that do not include alcohol, tobacco and other drugs. With an eye toward environmental prevention, staff worked collaboratively with community organizations to change the underlying economic, legal and sociocultural processes of community systems that contribute to high-risk chemical use and resulting violence. Chemical dependency counselors/trainees also provide ongoing individual and group counseling for students who are harmfully involved with chemicals as well as those affected by someone else's use. In addition, AOD assessments are provided to students.
